

ABSTRACT

According to one embodiment a method is disclosed. The method includes applying a photoresist layer to a first wafer, etching the first wafer, bonding the first wafer to a second wafer and thinning the first wafer; wherein an unsupported bevel portion of the first wafer is removed.